The man who reported the International Geo-physical Year, Dr. Sullivan will be Thursday Forum speaker at 10 a.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse.

Dr. Sullivan, science news editor of the New York Times, is appearing as part of the Engineering Week activities.

AWARDED the George Polk National Award for his thorough coverage of the International physical Year, he recorded "world-wide scientific invasion in 'Assault on the Unknown.'" He made four trips to Antarctica to complete information for his book "Quest for a Continent."

In a pursuit of news has taken across the Gobi Desert and resulted in his being "cast out" on a deserted Pacific island. He witnessed the siege and use of Shanghai by Communists, covered the Korean War and cheered several landings at I. Kennedy.

W. Africa Army Seizes Power

LIBREVILLE, GABON, (UPI)—The 600-man Gabon army seized power in a bloodless coup d'etat in this West African Equatorial Republic Tuesday and arrested strongman president Leon M'ba.

M'ba ANNOUNCED his resignation in a joint communique broadcast to the nation and signed by himself and army leaders. He then was placed under house arrest and a junta began forming a provisional government that will include no elements of his toppled regime.

Police and army units patrolled the streets to put down any possible last minute public panic or opposition, but there was no violence. Libreville radio appealed to Gabon's 450,000 inhabitants to remain calm.

Greeks Riot In Cyprus Reports Tell

NICOSIA (UPI)—Fresh violence broke out Tuesday in the "battleground" of northwest Cyprus 10 hours after President Archbishop Makarios said he doubted the need for a larger peace-keeping force to keep Greek and Turkish Cypriotes from killing each other. Officials said a 60-year-old Greek Cypriot woman was killed by Turkish Cypriotes in a village near Paphos, a Mediterranean port town in the western region where communal fighting has flared sporadically in recent days. The new violence was reported as the United Nations Security Council weighed a Cypriot request for a U. N. guarantee to Cyprus against aggression.

In an interview with United Press International Tuesday, Makarios said "the need for a peace-keeping force will be eliminated" if the resolution demanding guarantees against aggression is adopted.

"I don't think a larger peace-keeping force on Cyprus is necessary," Makarios said. Makarios said the "main question now" is to abrogate the Cyprus treaties that give Britain, Greece and Turkey—as guarantors of the island's independence—the right to intervene in Cypriot affairs.

There are 5,300 British troops efforting to keep the peace on Cyprus at present and official quarters in London have indicated the small force would not be able to carry on indefinitely.

Britain has refused to sell weapons to Cyprus and the Cyprus government admitted in a statement early Tuesday that it sought arms from "other sources" to protect this island's "territorial integrity."

In event of rejection of the Cypriot resolution and if a peace force is sent in here, Makarios said that he will insist that "its terms of reference state that it is here actively to defend Cyprus against aggression and maintain its territorial integrity."

Appearing Thursday with Utah Valley Symphony Orchestra as a tribute to Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, will be J. J. Keeler, organist and featured flutist, Ted Wight.

Concert Thursday Honors Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy will be honored at the third concert of the Utah Valley Symphony Orchestra Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in the Smith Auditorium.

The concert is being dedicated to the former First Lady who "contributed so much to the development of the performing arts."

THE CONCERT will open with Brahms' "Academic Festival Overture."

Second and major work is Saint-Saens' Symphony No. 3 in C Minor, Opus 78, for the entire orchestra. Dr. Harold Goodman commented that both Saint-Saens and Mrs. Kennedy "championed instrumental music" when it was on the decline in their countries.

FEATURED organist in this symphony is J. J. Keeler, a native of Provo, studied both in the U. S. and Europe. One of his teachers was Karl Straube, cantor of St. Thomas Church where J. S. Bach wrote most of his music.

He is also a composer for organ. His "Pascagencia in G Minor" was premiered on a national broadcast by the eminent Utah organist Alexander Schneider.

"PRAYER FOR Strings" by Richard Nibbel, BYU teacher of applied violin, was written especially for Mrs. Kennedy. It will be played by strings section only involving 60 members of the Orchestra.

Also appearing with the orchestra will be Ted Wight, flutist. Mr. Wight began his studies in Provo schools' seventh grade under Owen Bingham, now a member of the cell section. He also studied in Chicago, New York and Philadelphia.

FOURTH on the program is "Poem" by Charles Griffith, an outstanding contemporary American composer. Soloist in the flute-orchestra piece is Mr. Wight, who is a BYU instructor in mathematics. He has been a virtuoso flutist in the orchestra for 10 years.

Final number on the program is "Sierra" by Leon Dallia, a former composition teacher at BYU, now teaching at Long Beach State College.

THE 30-MEMBER orchestra is composed both of professional musicians and accomplished amateurs from Utah Valley and distant parts of the state.

The center section of the Smith Auditorium will be reserved for season ticket holders until 8:10 p.m. After that it will be opened to general admission.

BYU students and faculty will be admitted on activity cards with single adult tickets selling for $1 and tickets for non-BYU students will cost $5 cents.

Dr. Wilkinson Values Work; Explains Resignation From Y

"Hard work never hurt anyone." With this quotation from Supreme Court Justice Charles Evans Hughes, Dr. Ernest L. Wilkinson, former president of BYU, set the theme for Tuesday's Devotional Assembly where his address was given a standing ovation.

AFTER RELATING some of his background as a youngster in a poor section in Ogden, as a student, and as a lawyer in Washington, D.C., he said that any accomplishments or success he has known have been a result, "not of brilliance, but of hard work."

"It is as important that we work all day for six days of the week as that we rest on the Sabbath," Dr. Wilkinson said.

HE ALSO STRESSED that the students of BYU must not be discouraged by any feeling of class consciousness. "You can win our way with any class if you are willing to work hard enough," he said.

He referred to his 13 years as president of BYU, a position he called "the finest in my country," as the happiest years of his life.

Of all the developments that characterized his stay in office, the one that Dr. Wilkinson called the biggest and the best was the on-campus organization of the three stakes and the more than 40 wards of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Explaining his resignation as President to run for US Senator, Dr. Wilkinson said, "As Americans we have the privilege and obligation to respond to the call of our country. If the Constitution is to hang by a thread in this nation, I want to be one to help preserve it. But 'if I lose,' he said, 'I will happily do that, though I will belong to the vast army of unemployed.'"

Uncle Sam To Counsel U.S. Youth

WASHINGTON, (UPI) — The first specific program to implement the government's call for "appropriate action" against smoking will get underway in Washington in May, it was announced Tuesday.

THE CHILDREN'S bureau of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare said it planned to hold a national conference on "smoking and youth" in May. The purpose will be to plan effective ways to inform the nation's youth of the hazards of smoking cigarettes.

A special committee appointed by Surgeon General Luther Terry announced Jan. 11 that cigarette smoking was a hazard which warranted "appropriate action."

SHORTLY AFTER that, the Federal Trade Commission announced it would hold hearings in March to determine what course of action it might take.

Another private organization met with Public Health Service officials last Friday to discuss programs they might conduct. The groups agreed to name one member to a planning organization which will meet later to map out programs for the coming year. IN ADDITION to coordinating these efforts, the PHS is planning a series of programs of the first of this year.

The first of this series is expected to be announced in about three weeks.

But there has been no specific program announced by any government agency until Tuesday.

THE CONFERENCE planned by the children's bureau will be held out in detail at a meeting in Washington March 1-3. This meeting will be attended by school students, teachers, high school pupils and seven adult consultants.

Air Force Briefs ROTC Cadets On Space Age

"A Survey of Astronautics" was presented to the Air Force ROTC cadets in a special briefing Tuesday by personnel of Air University. The briefing gave cadets and Angels a brief outline of the effort that it takes to place men on the moon.

THE TEAM showed films of the Saturn 5 which will place an $8,000 payload in outer space in 1970. The rocket, the most powerful ever built, will have five engines each developing one and one-half million pounds of thrust.

Special shots taken of the earth by astronaut Gordon Cooper were also shown to the group. It was reported that Cooper could see the wake of a ship at sea, as well as dust coming from a car going down a dusty Arizona road.

AN ANIMATED film told of the various problems related to the Apollo moon shot and its return into the earth's atmosphere. The group was told that when the special Apollo capsule returns the earth's atmosphere it will develop temperatures up to 5,000 degrees F.

Emphasizing that error can be a real problem for the Apollo group was told that if the capsule enters the atmosphere too early that its occupants will be crushed to death, if it enters too late it will again leave the earth's atmosphere and spin, with its occupants, in a constant orbit with the sun.

LANDING CRAFT, to put two men on the moon was also shown. Estimates on the amount of time the two will spend on the distant planet vary from 150 minutes to six hours, officers said.

Le Grand Soelberg, Universe photographer, catches Steven D. Powell and his new bride Roberta as they leaf through a copy of the first Wye magazine to be published under the supervision of the English Dept. since 1938 at BYU.

Wye Magazine Issued By English Department

The Wye Magazine made its first appearance of the year this week in a new form and under new supervision.

The magazine was begun in 1938 and has been sponsored by the Journalism Dept. until this year when the English Dept. took it over.

The Wye Magazine will be on sale until Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Eyring Science Center, the Smith Family Living Center and the McKay Bldg. for 35 cents per issue.

HOLDS OF English Major cards may receive their free copy in the English office, 301 McKay Bldg.

Several changes in form and content characterize the magazine, according to Editor Chad Wright. Art work has been cut to a minimum to allow the printing of more written material; art will be published to embellish the literature. The size of the page has been reduced so that the editions can be bound into volumes and catalogued.

TO AD IN the selection of stories, essays, and poetry, a creative writing board under the leadership of Eileen Kump, faculty sponsor, has been established.

The eighty-page magazine will contain stories by Stephen Gould,

Susan Murphy, Melba Cleave, Vinda Castleberry, Richard Menzies, and LaVar Webb.

A SHORT biography and personal sketch of each of the contributors is another feature initiated by the staff this year with photographs by Dano Christensen and Richard Wilson.

A photo essay on Yost's England by Douglas Hill of the English faculty will highlight the magazine. Mr. Hill has recently returned from a year of study in England and Ireland.

If We Don't Have What You

Neanderthals have not yet become extinct," Prof. Forsheue wrote in a publication of the USSR Academy of Science.

"The Neanderthals existed side by side with the modern human beings right through the development of the latter; they were still their shadow," he said.

Forsheue said the snowman footprint is nearly "100 percent the same" as a Neanderthal footprint and differs in almost exactly the same way from a human footprint.

Soviet scientists have been divided over the conflicting claim about the nature of the "Abominable Snowman," with some believing in its existence and others strongly doubting it.

In a review of his scientific work, published in the latest issue of the English language newspaper Moscow News, Prof. Forsheue said that unlike modern man, "the Neanderthals did not develop along the path of labor and so become men, forming society and developing verbal communication."

"They continued to develop an animal," Forsheue said.

The professor's evidence includes an extensive study of footprints of an alleged Snowman and what is taken to be the mummified hand of such a beast.

UCLA Bruins Remain on Top In Cage Action

NEW YORK, (UPI)—Unbeaten UCLA moved within two votes of a unanimous first-place ranking today in the weekly United Press International major college basketball ratings, which underwent the most sweeping change of the season.

Except for UCLA, which ranked No. 1 for the seventh consecutive week, not a single member of the top 20 retained the ranking it held last week.

Michigan recaptured second place from Kentucky. The Wildcats of Coach Adolph Rupp slipped to third but deprived UCLA of a perfect rating by grabbing the remaining two first-place ballots. UCLA was ranked No. 1 by 38 of the 55 coaches on the UPI rating board.

Duke, riding a 10-game winning streak, surged to fourth place and Villanova (19-2) leaped from ninth to the No. 5 spot. Oregon State (21-3) advanced two places to sixth.

Upset victims filled the 7-8-9 spots. Wichita, killed from the Missouri Valley lead by Drake, dropped to seventh and Vanderbilt (17-4), which has lost three games by a total of eight points, slid to ninth after losses to Georgia Tech and Tennessee.

Davidson, also beaten twice last week, fell from fourth to eighth and Loyola of Chicago edged back into the top 10 in 10th, replacing Texas Western, No. 11.

UCLA, Michigan and Kentucky will have rough winters for the season, playing the majority of their games on the road. UCLA has four of its remaining five games away from home, Michigan three of five away, Kentucky three of four away.

- 1. UCLA (38) (21-0)
- 2. Michigan (31) (17-2)
- 3. Kentucky (2) (18-2)
- 4. Duke (17-3)
- 5. Villanova (18-5)
- 6. Oregon State (21-3)

'Moral Fire-Nite Weigh-In Scheduled For Grapplers

All Fire Nite applicants are required to meet in room 231 of the Smith Fieldhouse Wednesday afternoon between 1 and 4 p.m. to be weighed in.

The annual Fire Nite will be held during the second week in March, but no definite date has been released yet. Preliminary matches will start on Monday, February 24th. Schedules will be posted at bulletin boards in the fieldhouse, at the top of the stairs and in Cannon Center.

There are 61 men in various weights who will be competing in the annual affair. Those eligible to compete in the tournament are full time students who have not received a letter in wrestling from a four year institution and who are not presently members of the BYU varsity wrestling squad.

A physical examination is also required for those intending "participating. A $1.00 fee will be charged for the examination.

Check with the Intramural department for exact date of examinations.

It is advised by Jay Naylor, head of intramurals here, that: "Everyone planning to participate in wrestling have regular workouts in the wrestling rooms along with exercise and running. In order that they may be in proper condition." The wrestling room will be closed between 10-11 and 2-3, however.

One of the highlights of the night should be Bill Nelson in the 17 lb. division. Mr. Nelson is the three-year champion in that weight division.

The volleyball team will be selling seat cushions at the Brigham Young-Utah game February 21, at $5.00 each. Money from this project will go towards entering a national tournament later this year.
